

Chapter Mission Statement

If you don't have a mission statement for your chapter already, consider writing one. Describe the things your chapter is doing and wants to do. Make it a practical guide to action, not an abstract academic exercise. The following is one chapter's vision for itself.

The Lloyd R. Leavitt Chapter has consistently earned the highest national awards over the last several years by ranking at the top of all AFA chapters in Community Partners as a percent of total membership.

MISSION STATEMENT

LLOYD R. LEAVITT AFA CHAPTER NO. 314
Alpena, Michigan

The AFA nationally was built as a civilian organization designed to educate the public about the need for a strong national defense and the unique capabilities of aerospace power in meeting the need. The AFA is not a government agency.

The Lloyd R. Leavitt Chapter is a community organization designed to educate the people of Alpena of its unique relationship with the Alpena Combat Readiness Training Center located at Phelps Collins Air National Guard Base.

The mission of the Lloyd R. Leavitt Chapter includes political support for the air base, education through communication with its members, scholarships and other educational support to students in area Public Schools. Also to promulgate the relationship between the business community and the Air Base through the promotion of the Community Partner Membership Program.

The People of Alpena have benefitted from the presence of the Alpena Combat Readiness Training Center, and the need for continuing support for the base and its endeavors is our primary goal.
